conflict
constructive conflict in order to foster human thriving and enact just systems.

mexamines gender as a social and cultural construct and uses feminist lenses to disrupt systems of privilege and oppression, and reimagine power and gender as they intersect with other identities such as race, sexual orientation,
socio-economic class,
and diverse-ability.

ce, ....explores the conditions and systems which deprive persons of their freedoms, proper agency and rights, and seeks to create ways to ensure access and full exercise of those rights to participate fully in human community.

...regards crime as a harm to those impacted by it and seeks to heal the harm experienced by actors, survivors and community members, rather than punishing and silencing those involved.
